

DISASTER FACES ALLIES, CHURCHILL SAYS

Meandering Along the Main Stem

By WASH FAYETTE
Blame it on the war, the weather or what-not, but Carey McConaughy, head of the Coca Cola Bottling plant next door to the Record-Herald, has a Maiden Blush apple tree on his premises at 525 Circle Avenue, that has a great many apples on it and one large blossom that is blooming just as vigorously as the flowers that bloom in the spring—tra la la!

This little yarn will find response among some of you women who thought it was just terrible to sit in line to obtain your sugar rationing card, so you could go to the stores and purchase sugar—in limited amounts, it is true—at around seven cents per pound.

Do you recall during the first World War that sugar prices went "out of sight" and that it was extremely difficult to obtain it at any price?

Well, just to show you the difference between then and now, Frank Reichert, now deceased, purchased 200 pounds of sugar from a local grocer and gave him a check for $72 for the 200 pounds.

That means sugar was retailing at 36 cents per pound in 100 pound bags. The ceiling price at present is the only thing that is holding down the price of sugar and there is every reason to believe there will be nothing like 36 cent sugar during the present war.

You've heard about things that would "stop traffic" . . . well, it happened during the most serious part of F. E. Hill's instructions for air raid wardens when the class was in session in the Brandenburg Garage on Clinton Avenue Wednesday evening.

Ralph Taylor, who had come early and set himself down in a rocking chair facing the big door so he could look out to the street, couldn't suppress a hearty haw-haw . . . it did seem a little out of place . . . but so must have seemed the scene of which he was a part . . . but you couldn't blame him . . . this was the reason:

A woman, in a car driving slowly by, let out a horrified gasp and grabbed the arm of her husband at the wheel . . . the car started weaving as it abruptly slowed down . . . and they both craned their necks and stared at the gathering scores of men inside the garage . . . in the center of the circle of tense faces, was big Ray Brandenburg . . . his head was swathed in white bandages . . . and the instructor was showing him off . . . what a terrible accident, they must have thought . . . and how those men seemed to be making a show of the poor victim.

Eventually, they drove on and the class settled down to the serious business of learning how to take care of air raid victims.

Now I don't want to appear to be going aesthetic . . . but have you noticed the hollyhocks this year . . . maybe I'm forgetful, but I can't remember ever having seen anything quite so gorgeous . . . so colorful . . . as the hollyhocks along the roadsides, in back yards, front yards, around garden patches and chicken yards, in the country and in the city . . . the recent rains may have had something to do with it . . . I'm not enough of a botanist to know.

It seems to me, though, that the State Highway Department . . . or maybe it was the county . . . scattered a lot of hollyhock seeds last year or the year before . . . well, anyway, they certainly brighten up a war-dab world . . . too bad we can't spend a lot of tire rubber taking them in.

16-YEAR-OLD WIFE SEEKS DIVORCE FROM 74-YEAR-OLD HUSBAND

ZANESVILLE, July 2—(AP)—Emma Sue Shipman, 17, a 16-year-old child bride of last August, today wants a divorce from her 74-year-old farmer-husband, Charles A. Shipman.

The girl charged yesterday in a divorce suit filed through her mother, Mrs. Lulu Shipman—a sister-in-law of Charles Shipman as well as his mother-in-law—that he failed to provide for her; "cussed" her constantly and once threatened her life.

Allied Bombers Strike Out
From Australia Against
'Invasion Islands'

(By The Associated Press)

China's fledgling air force, pressing its first offensive in five years of war against Japan, was credited today with a big-scale assault on Japanese military targets along the Yangtze River, while Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's armies coped with an increasingly grave situation on the east China seaboard.

Dispatches from Chungking, the war-time capital, said large formations of Chinese bombers pounded the enemy at Hangchow and Yochow, in North Hunan province. All the raiders returned safely.

Hankow has served as a main base for Japanese air raids on Chungking.

On the fighting front, a Chinese army spokesman again denied a Tokyo claim that Japanese invasion columns had seized the entire 450-mile Chekiang-Kiangsi railway. The communiqué said Jap columns had been "successfully checked."

The spokesman said a 35-mile gap still separated the two Japanese columns driving toward each other along the important rail line, which leads into central China.

In the battle of Australia, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters reported a series of allied aerial blows which indicated a sharp upsurge in United Nations air strength.

Reaching far out over the necklace of Japanese "invasion base" islands north of Australia, Allied bombers attacked six Japanese strongholds and inflicted heavy damage.

A United Nations communiqué said the raiders struck at Kendari, airdrome, in Dutch Celebes; Dili, Portuguese Timor; Lae and Salamaua, New Guinea; and Tulagi and Bougainville, in the Solomon Islands.

SPY RING AIDING U-BOAT OFF AMERICAS ROUNDED UP
UNITED STATES ARMY HEADQUARTERS, PANAMA CANAL ZONE—Lieut. Gen. Frank Andrews, defense commander of the Caribbean area, announced today the arrest of 20 persons who, the Army charges, formed spy rings engaged in fueling Axis submarines and disclosed information of United States shipping to the enemy.

MILITARY COMMISSION NAMED TO TRY SABOTEURS
WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt created today a military commission of seven army generals to try eight persons accused of landing in Florida and New York to try to commit sabotage.

BICYCLES TO BE RATIONED AFTER JULY 9
WASHINGTON—General rationing of bicycles will start July 9. The Office of Price Administration announced today. Local war price and rationing boards will start accepting applications on that date and, under rather broad eligibility rules, will issue bicycle purchase certificates to persons "engaged in a gainful occupation or in work which contributes to the war effort or to the public welfare."

Reds Fight On in Russia Although Sevastopol Is Virtually Doomed

By ROGER D. GREENE

(By the Associated Press)
Italian headquarters asserted today that Axis troops had stormed and captured El Alamein, only 65 miles west of Britain's great Alexandria naval base, as the British fought along a 35-mile "bottleneck" front in a desperate attempt to save the Suez Canal and perhaps the entire Middle East from German conquest.

Simultaneously, British Imperial headquarters declared that Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck's armies, meeting the Axis in full shock of battle after a 350-mile retreat in three weeks, beat off heavy attacks at El Alamein yesterday.

Describing preliminary phases of the great battle as "not unfavorable for us," the British communiqué said:

"One attack by enemy tanks effected a temporary break in a defended locality, but later the enemy tanks were driven out and engaged by our columns."

Terse dispatches from the front said the British, supported by American 28-ton "General Grant" tanks, were engaging Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's victory-flushed invaders in heavy fighting from the Mediterranean coast inland to the Qattara Depression.

Sweeping over the narrow fighting zone, Allied warplanes including American "Kittyhawk" fighters blasted enemy tanks and troops.

Dispatches indicated that Rommel struck under cover of a swirling sandstorm, assaulting the main British forces ranged along the coastal plain in a frontal assault aimed at Alexandria.

An Italian communiqué said the British positions were "tenaciously defended" and were overrun only after sharp fighting.

"Our air force, which repeatedly intervened in the field, dominated the battle in the sky," the Fascist war bulletin asserted.

While the fall of El Alamein would not be disastrous in itself, the Axis claims indicated that Rommel's invaders had already pushed five miles or more into the British system of defense in depth.

The British front line previously had been described as 70 miles west of Alexandria and five miles west of El Alamein.

Russians Fight On

As Adolf Hitler's North African armies sought a decisive knockout in Egypt, the Russian high command declared the heroic defenders of Sevastopol still fought on throughout the night—more than 12 hours after field headquarters announced that the great Russian citadel had fallen.

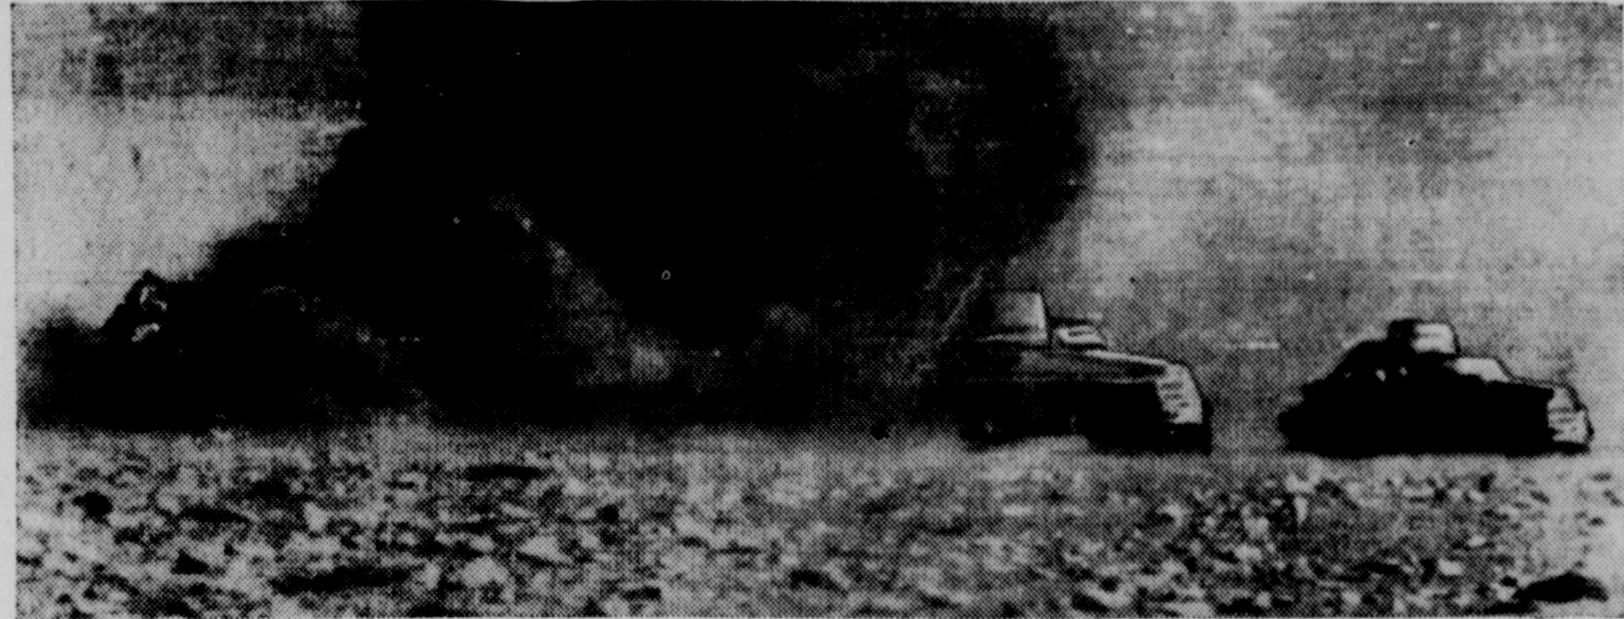

Soviet dispatches filed yesterday said overwhelming German forces carried the battle into the streets of Sevastopol itself after breaking through the city's fortifications, but declared that the defenders continued to fight against heavy odds.

"The remainder of the beaten Sevastopol army has fled to the peninsula of Khersones," the German high command asserted.

"Crowded in a very small area, it faces annihilation."

Two successive Russian communiqués ignored the German (Please Turn To Page Six)

This Shows What British Are Taking in Africa

the naval base whose fall probably would mean the end of British domination of the eastern Mediterranean. However, reinforcements from the dominions and from the United States are pouring into the Middle East to back up the British defense lines in front of Alexandria and Cairo.

PRICE CEILING HAS FIRST DENT

OPM Chief Lifts Price on 1942 Fruit as Funds for Office Are Sought

By WILLIAM R. SPEAR

WASHINGTON, July 2—(AP)—Price Administrator Leon Henderson prepared to head for Capitol Hill today to ask the Senate for the extra $86,000,000 the House refused him—the difference, he said, between rationing and anarchy in distribution as the first dent was made in the price ceiling.

As he appeared for more funds, Henderson also spotlighted two other disputes with congress—the price concessions to farmers and the matter of subsidies to absorb losses under price ceilings.

He announced that he was "being compelled to take measures that will raise retail prices of the 1942 pack of canned and dried fruits by as much as 15 percent and possibly more."

This represented the first departure permitted from the universal price ceiling. Henderson explained it was made necessary by the concessions to growers which the farm bloc wrote into the price control act and by the refusal of Congress to approve the subsidy plan by which the government could have absorbed business losses when necessary to make price controls stick.

VICHY PUTS UP HOWL ON INTERNED FLEET

Nine Warships in Danger at Alexandria Base

VICHY, July 2—(AP)—Asking, "do the English want to destroy our fleet at Alexandria?" the Vichy government served notice in a semi-official statement today that any such action against the interned squadron would be considered "an act of violence."

(Nine war vessels of the French fleet have been interned at Alexandria since the summer of 1940.)

Seizing on an article in the London Times raising the question of putting the interned squadron out of commission lest it fall into the hands of the Axis forces advancing on the desert, the statement said this would be "a new act of violence which the English might perpetrate against the French fleet in the face of the course of events which are now feared at Alexandria."

SEN. TAFT GETS 'X' CARD NO LIMIT ON GASOLINE

Immense Pool of Wheat Created By Allies for War-Stricken Countries

By WADE WERNER

WASHINGTON, July 2—(AP)—Millions of hungry people in Axis-occupied countries today had another reason to hope for a United Nation's victory.

It was the decision of the United States and four other countries to set aside an immense pool of wheat for the relief of war-stricken countries, to be rushed to them "so soon as the international situation permits."

That means as soon as shipping is available to carry breadstuffs instead of bombs, wheat instead of weapons, across the seas.

Establishment of a relief pool of not less than 100,000,000 bushels is only one of the features of the wheat agreement made public yesterday with the United States, Great Britain, Canada, Australia and Argentina as signatories. Other provisions relate to the control of wheat production, stocks and exports and the cooperation of all five countries in the stabilization of prices.

What urgently matters to hungry millions, however, is the picture of plenty disclosed in the paragraphs of the pact and in the facts of the situation it is designed to meet.

The combined wheat surplus of the four exporting countries involved now aggregates nearly 1,500,000,000 bushels. Defeat of the Axis will clear the seas for peaceful commerce and put that wheat into circulation. The ultimate aim is restoration of the international wheat trade on a sound basis; but to make sure the hungry millions will get bread without delay as soon as the war is won the 100,000,000-bushel relief pool is created.

WELCH, W. Va., July 2—(AP)—Army officials sought today to identify the mangled and burned bodies of 21 soldiers, occupants of an army transport plane which crashed in flames on a southern West Virginia hillside.

The transport, a former American airlines flagship, lost a wing at 500 feet and plunged with smoke pouring from the fuselage into a garden at Premier, three miles from here, yesterday.

Nine soldiers were killed in another mishap yesterday in California when a four-motored army bomber crashed and exploded on a low knoll with a roar heard for miles. Army men at March Field said the craft was on a routine training flight.

West Virginia state troopers, guarding wreckage of the airliner at Premier, said the bodies were beyond recognition but they believed 13 could be identified by tags, another by clothing and a 15th possibly by a ring.

U. S. CRUISER'S CREW IS HELD BY JAPS

Picked Up When Warship
Sunk Off Java, Claim

WASHINGTON, July 2—(AP)—Some of the crew of the cruiser Houston, which disappeared along with the Australian cruiser Perth in the battle of the Java Sea, were believed today to have been picked up by the Japanese and interned in the Dutch East Indies.

A Navy statement quoted a Japanese broadcast as saying that 1,000 survivors of the two vessels had been rescued by Japanese sailors and were now in Batavia.

"There appears to be no reason for the issuance of false information on this subject by the Japanese," the Navy said.

WAR BOND SALE IS BELOW QUOTA

Fourth Reserve District Fails
To Come Up To Rate
For May

By WADE WERNER

WASHINGTON, July 2—(AP)—War Bond sales are below quotas in the Fourth Federal Reserve District.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland noted today that through June 27, "sales of War Bonds of Series E, F and G by financial institutions and through payroll allotment programs operating in the Fourth District failed to equal the rate reached in May."

"With June quotas for the entire country one-third higher than those of May, it would appear that the June goal was not being attained locally. Sales of War Savings Bonds in June up to the 27th of the month totaled $39,530,000, compared with $44,814,000 in all of May."

WASP STUNG TWICE CHURCHILL REVEALS

Nazis on 'Fishing Trip'—Says
U. S. Carrier Sunk

LONDON, July 2—(AP)—Remarks on the replenishment of Malta's air forces by the United States aircraft carrier Wasp, Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons that the Wasp had rendered notable service on more than one occasion, "enabling me to send a message of thanks: 'Who says the Wasp cannot sting twice?'"

The Berlin radio, apparently making another of its frequent attempts to evoke information of Allied naval movements, today broadcast a DNB dispatch asserting that the United States aircraft carrier Wasp had been sunk "in European waters."

This major strengthening of the battered eighth army, athwart the Axis path to the Nile delta, Alexandria and Suez, was the basis of Churchill's statement that "I do not consider the struggle in any way as decided."

This appraisal of the Allied position in Africa and the middle East, evoked by two days of debate in the House of Commons on Churchill's conduct of the war, was given in a speech which also touched upon the Prime Minister's recent consultations with President Roosevelt.

He said the conversations were concerned "only with movement of troops, ships and aircraft and measures to be taken to combat losses at sea and more than replace sunken tonnage."

The United States Army Air Force has been in action for some days in the North African struggle while United States service and supply units have been engaged on behalf of the Allies behind the battle lines.

"Almost everything arranged was secret," Churchill added of his talks with the President, and "there was never a more earnest desire between Allies to engage the enemy."

In the closing passages of his historic reply, just before Commons began voting on a motion to censure his government for its direction of the war, Churchill said: "I have stuck hard to my

PRIME MINISTER HAS CONFIDENCE OF COMMONS

Reinforcements Have Been Sent To British Forces in Egypt, He Discloses

By DREW MIDDLETON

LONDON, July 2—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill won an overwhelming vote of confidence from the House of Commons today after he had gravely assessed the Allied position in the Mediterranean and Middle East war zones as a near-disaster with a hope of victory pinned on "very considerable" reinforcements now in progress.

The vote was 475 to 25. The Parliamentary victory came at the end of a speech one hour and 28 minutes long in which Churchill staunchly defended his direction of the war as the best possible under the circumstances.

Churchill sketched a dark picture of the Battle of Egypt. He said it had developed "a recession of our hopes and prospects in the Middle East and Mediterranean unequalled since the fall of France."

To this he added, without elaboration, a statement that "at any moment we may receive news of grave importance."

The 475 to 25 vote left 115 of the House's 615 members unaccounted for.

Of the 115 some members undoubtedly expressed partial approval of the Churchill government by abstaining from the vote but many could not attend the session because of wartime duties and other causes.

Tremendous cheering greeted announcement of the vote, which squelched the most serious challenge yet made to Churchill's leadership. The opposition vote was the highest since the Prime Minister took office, May 10, 1940.

The motion upon which the vote was taken was the first censure resolution introduced against the present government. Previous votes had been taken on the government's own motions. The latest of these was the 464 to one vote of January 29.

The applause was still ringing when Churchill left the House today. He stopped at the door, turned, lifted his fingers in the "V-For-Victory" sign and went back to work.

Churchill's somber portrayal of the war in Africa was relieved only by his statement that "very considerable" reinforcements have reached or "are approaching" the battlefield.

Turning Point of War Is Seen in Battle Raging in Egypt and Russia

By DEWITT MACKENZIE This waiting for the decision in the battle for Egypt is like sitting outside an operating room in a hospital while a surgeon wields his scalpel in a life or death operation.

The momentous engagement which now is going full blast seventy miles west of the great British naval base of Alexandria, may be one of the threads upon which hang "our way of life." Equally it may determine the fate of the Nazi who would make us servants and rob us of our heritage.

General Sir Claude Auchinleck, the British commander, himself suddenly ended the withdrawal of his army and deliberately precipitated the big battle. It was the supreme moment for which Field Marshal Rommel had been striving, since he not only was anxious to engage the British before the latter had a chance to reorganize their disorganized forces, but he wanted to do battle before his dangerously drawn out lines of communication were further extended.

The Nazi commander's supply lines likely are his greatest menace. The one item of supply upon which both armies depended for their very lives was water, every drop of which had to be transported over the burning sands under bombardment.

Over on the other side of Hitler's pincers operation the Nazis claimed the capture of the important Russian naval base of Sevastopol. The fall of Sevastopol, while not a decisive event, would have far reaching effects both strategic and political. For one thing it would weaken Russia's hold on the Black Sea and would increase Nazi pressure on Turkey.

GEORGE HENRY ROLFE SUMMONED SUDDENLY

Funeral services for George Henry Rolfe, 55, who died suddenly while at work along a highway near his home in Pickaway County, will be held at the Littleton Funeral Home in Sabina, Friday at 2 P. M., and burial made in the New Vienna Cemetery.

He is survived by his wife and five sons and daughters, including Mrs. Olethia Rittenhouse, of New Martinsburg, and Mrs. Bernice Monteith of New Holland.

John, Ed. E., Charles and O. O. Rolfe, of Madison Township, Fayette County, are brothers, and Mrs. Naomi Roades, White Oak, is a sister.

MRS. FREMONT PATTON SUMMONED IN DAYTON

Mrs. Fremont Patton, formerly of this city and the Buena Vista community, died at her home in Dayton Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Patton is survived by several sons and daughters. Her husband died a number of years ago.

Funeral services will be held at the West Third Street Church in Dayton, Saturday at one o'clock and burial will be made in the Leesburg Cemetery.

No Motor Vehicles To Be in Line of March Which Is Expected To Be Several Blocks Long—Floats All Are To Be of 'Walking Variety'—Rally at Court House

Plans for the Parade For Victory, to be held in Washington C. H. Sunday afternoon at 4 P. M. are taking on tremendous proportions, according to information which was reported by Col. Rell G. Allen, grand marshal, at a meeting of the executive committee of the Fayette County Civilian Defense Council at the City Hall Wednesday night.

Col. Allen stated that the many organizations which had announced their participation indicated that the parade might be several blocks in length.

The only incident which might interfere with the program, he said, would be heavy rain or stormy weather, in which event the public address system to be used at the Courthouse during the day would announce where the crowd could go, as far as it could be accommodated, in order to hear the final part of the program which is to climax the day's event.

Plans so far made include several sections for the parade here, some of the organizations having planned interesting and colorful representations. Part of the Jeffersonville Victory Parade, which is to be held there at 1:30 P. M. Sunday, the same day, will be brought here to join in the Washington C. H. pageant.

There are to be no motor driven vehicles in the parade as a gesture toward aiding the government's tire conservation request, and floats using being of the "walking" variety. Some horses and a big brigade of decorated bicycles probably will be in line of march. All marchers are urged to carry small American flags.

The line of march, according to tentative plans which may be subject to some changes if conditions warrant, will be from the corner of North and Court streets, west on Court to Hinde, north to Market, east on Market to Main, south on Main to Court and at this point those in charge will mass the paraders in front of the speaker's stand at the south entrance of the Courthouse and on Court Street. All necessary streets for the line of march will be blocked against motor traffic in advance. The pre-parade formations will be held on Washington and Columbus Avenues to join the line of march at points designated later by those in charge.

According to advance reports the following organizations will have a part in the parade, the names given opposite being the persons who are in charge of the participation of these groups:

SIXTY AIR RAID WARDENS GIVEN SCHOOLING HERE

Meet Each Wednesday Night At the Brandenburg Garage

Some three score Air Raid Wardens attended a school of instruction held at the Brandenburg Garage, Wednesday night, where two classes in First Aid and rescue work were taught by Dr. J. F. Wilson and F. E. Hill, each having upward of 30 men in their respective classes.

The Air Raid Wardens, of whom there are 70 in the city, meet each Wednesday night for instruction and a great deal of valuable information that would be of first importance in case of disaster such as an air raid on the city, is given them.

Similar groups are being trained in cities throughout the United States, as it is not impossible that Ohio cities may feel

-Spying- On Sports

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

(Wide World News Service)
NEW YORK, July 2—(AP)—The baseball equipment fund, which gets the first $100,000 of the dough you folks will pay to see the two all star games, already is $16,000 in the red after starting out last year.

With $27,500 . . . but Ford Frick, who runs the show, says the fund has managed to provide a little equipment for every outfit in the United States and a few outside. . . Total administrative expense so far has been just $67.62. . . By way of showing appreciation, the war department has provided plane priorities so the St. Louis players can get here in time for Monday's game.

Golfer Gets Bullfrog If Not a Good Score

THOMASVILLE, N. C. —(AP)—Perhaps Joe Swiegood, Thomasville soda-shop manager, plays less than perfect golf, but he gets results.

Playing his home course, he hooked a drive off the sixth tee, found his ball near a creek crossing the fairway. It had all but decapitated a large bullfrog.

Horses Overflow Stables For Mid-Summer Race Meet At Hamilton Fairgrounds

HAMILTON, July 2—Everything is in readiness for the opening of the third annual mid-summer meeting of running races at the Butler County Fair Grounds here Saturday.

A crew of workmen, operating under the supervision of D. E. Cronin and J. H. Yerian, has been busy for the past month getting the picturesque half-mile plant ready for the return of King Horse.

Post time Saturday and every Saturday during the 19-day session will be 2:15 P. M. On all other days, twilight racing will prevail with the post time being 4:15 P. M.

Although the management is prepared to handle a bumper holiday crowd on the Fourth, it is doubtful if the turnout will exceed the attendance on Saturday, July 18, which has been designated as Army-Navy Relief Day.

LOP-SIDED WIN IS REGISTERED BY METHODISTS

Madison Millers Tounce Selden Grangers in Second Game

The Methodists swamped the Catholics with a deluge of runs to win the first softball game of the evening by a score of 34 to 3. During the first half inning of play, the Methodists scored 13 runs, after going around the team roster almost two complete times. The St. Colman team, in the last half of the same inning, scored only one run. In the second the Methodists scored three runs and the Catholics none. The third inning was another big one for the Methodists because they scored nine more runs while their opponents scored one more. The fourth brought three up and three down for the Methodists and the Catholics scored another run. That run was the last one scored for St. Colman's during the rest of the game. The Methodists kept on scoring though, and got 2 in the fifth, two in the sixth and 5 in the last half of the seventh.

The hitting honors of this game went to Gage of the Methodists with four for four, and O'Brien of the Catholics with two for two. Gage also scored six runs.

Millers Beat Selden

In the second game of the evening, starting two grange teams, the Selden Grange and the Madison Mills Grange, the score did not go to such extremes as it did in the first game. The Millers won over the Selden Grangers by a score of 7 to 4. The Miller's pitcher, McKinney, struck out the first six men who came to the plate. However, the Selden boys scored a run in the third inning on an error, got one hit and one run in the fourth inning. They also got 3 more hits and two more runs in the last inning. The Millers scored one run in the first, three in the second, one in the third and two more in the sixth. The hitting honors of this In-

Trainer From Here Is Reported Injured In Spill at Marion

At least two Washington C. H. harness horse trainers were involved in spills during the races at Marion Wednesday and, according to meager information reaching here, one of them was badly injured.

C. I. (Slim) Shilling, who has trained a stable of trotters and pacers for T. D. Van Camp & Son of Columbus at the Fayette County Fairground this spring, was reported to have been taken to a hospital with a fractured shoulder. Just how serious that was, or whether he was otherwise hurt, could not be learned definitely.

Ernest Smith, who has trained here for years, was said to have been caught in another accident but there have been no reports of serious injury to him. It was said that he was thrown several feet in the air and landed clear of the tangle of horses and sulks.

Stories trickling back to Washington C. H. varied somewhat on what took place, some said there were as many as nine spills and others only five. One report was that a horse was so badly injured it had to be destroyed.

Extra large fields of horses were held to blame for the accidents.

Later reports said Shilling was

YANKEE SLUMP GETS PATHETIC; TROUTED AGAIN

Indians, Meanwhile, Keep Within Striking Distance Of League Lead

By JUDSON BAILEY

(By The Associated Press)
It has been some time since anyone needed to feel sorry for the world champion New York Yankees, but their plight is getting more pathetic.

Since marching boldly out of Yankee Stadium nearly three weeks ago they have lost 11 out of 17 contests and last night saw their American League lead cut to three games as they blew a 5-4 decision to the Philadelphia Athletics.

This was a reduction of 1½ games in their first place margin in a single day because of the Boston Red Sox's second straight doubleheader victory over the Washington Senators.

Washington was held to five hits in each game and the Red Sox made twice as many. They downed Buck Newsom 3-2 in the opener with a run in the seventh and three innings of perfect relief pitching by Yank Terry and then they captured the nightcap with the greatest of ease 7-1.

This put a premium on the three-game series between the Yanks and Red Sox at Fenway Park tomorrow and Saturday. The Cleveland Indians kept within sight of the struggle for the lead by beating the Chicago White Sox 7-2.

The St. Louis Browns turned loose a 14-hit assault to score in all but one inning and belt the Detroit Tigers 12-0 on the five-hit hurling of Elden Auker.

Action in the National League was limited to two games with the St. Louis Cardinals shutting out the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-0; the Chicago Cubs cuffing the Cincinnati Reds 5-2 in a night encounter.

Would You Believe It?

Bob Pastor Turns Back on $150,000 Worth of Summer Fights Just To Play Golf . . . Jimmy Johnson Left Gage

NEW YORK, July 2—(AP)—You'll never believe this, but Jimmy Johnston was just about speechless today.

As a matter of fact, the entire fight industry was struck more or less incoherent.

For the guys in the business had just learned that rapid Robert Pastor is turning his back on a little matter of a hundred and fifty thousand dollars that he could pick up in a few fights this summer.

The offers Johnston has received so far make a pile big enough to fill his derby. He can get $25,000 for Rapid Robert to take on Harry Bobo in Pittsburgh or Cleveland or both. There's $20,000 waiting for a return go with Jimmy Bevin in Cleveland and $25,000 more if he wants to maul with Melio Bettina in Chicago, and $15,000 to fight Lou Nova in Chicago and $10,000 for Lee Savold in Detroit or Toledo, and either $7,500 or $5,000 to appear against a couple or lesser known lights in Toledo.

As Jimmy showed you these, a telegraph messenger delivered wires which guaranteed Pastor $10,000 to fight either Pat Valentino or Turkey Thompson in Los Angeles.

"So I called Bob up," the big noise related, "and what do you think he told me? 'Pop, I feel swell. I just shot an 88. I'm gonna keep playing this game until the middle of August. Then maybe I'll be ready to fight.'"

Reds, Cubs Break Even in Short Series

CINCINNATI, July 2—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds start themselves a two-day rest today before going up to Pittsburgh for the July Fourth doubleheader and another Sunday.

They need the rest after two successive night games with the Cubs and the big military doings of Tuesday night. Last night they dropped the second game, 5 to 2, to let the Cubs square the series.

The Cubs got to Johnny Vander Meer for two runs in the first and two more in the third, and added their final in the seventh off Elmer Riddle.

The feature was Bill Nicholson's feat of stealing second base, going to third on a low throw, and then stealing home in the third. Claude Passeau, winning his 12th game, kept the Reds helpless except in the first, when Eddie Joost's single and Lonnie Frey's and Max Marshall's doubles produced their runs.

Frick Not Fooling As Team Prepped For All-Star Game

NEW YORK, July 2—(AP)—Ford Frick doesn't mind losing sleep if it will keep his national leaguers from losing the all-star game to the American League.

The two picked squads of the major leagues will square off at the polo grounds for their tenth annual outing at 6:30 P. M. (EWT) Monday, a shindig in which the president of the National League has a two-fold interest.

He would like, probably in the order named, (1) to fatten the baseball equipment fund for the armed forces by $100,000, and (2) to flatten the American Leaguers for a good many reasons.

THESE ARE THE FACTS

About Wartime Bus Travel

To All Wartime Travelers:
In normal years, vacation travel reaches a peak over the 4th of July week-end. This year there will be a tremendous increase -- with trips necessary to the war effort largely replacing pleasure trips. So we suggest -- don't make bus trips during this holiday, if you can avoid it.

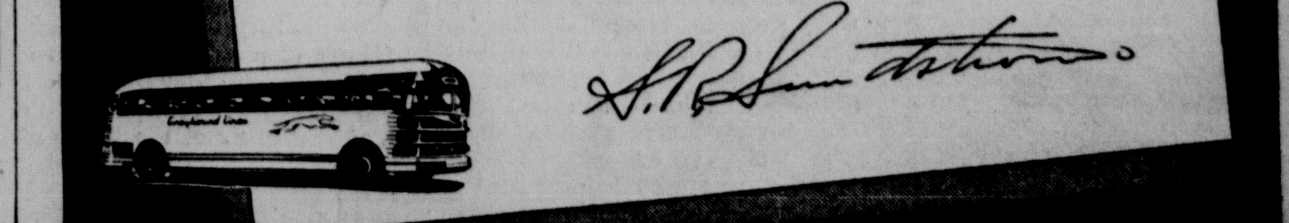

Perhaps you have heard confusing comments and rumors about travel in general, and are wondering just how Greyhound has altered its service to meet wartime conditions -- what effect certain revisions will have on the trips you must make -- what you can do to help.

The fundamental fact is that Greyhound and other bus companies are organizing all the resources of the industry to make the most of every bit of equipment, every bit of experience -- to help win the war. Everything else is secondary. The buses' big job today is to carry selectees to examination centers, men in uniform on furloughs, war workers to jobs, civilian travelers on essential trips -- and to be ready at all times for urgent troop movements.

To accomplish this task efficiently, Greyhound has eliminated Expresses and Limiteds, many "extra sections", certain schedules that are not used by enough passengers. All unnecessary duplication of service. Full cooperation is being given to the office of Defense Transportation in its program to conserve vital rubber.

At present there are no Government restrictions on travel by bus -- but on some occasions you may be inconvenienced. You can help greatly -- by traveling on mid-week days, rather than on crowded week-ends -- by avoiding rush periods and holidays -- by getting information and tickets in advance -- and by taking as little baggage as possible.

There's a big job to be done -- let's all help. Very truly yours,

ALERT RETAILERS WILL HELP

While discussing the changes in business brought about by war conditions with a prominent Washington C. H. retailer, the other day, he pointed out how his store, and many others, were making unusual efforts to meet the unprecedented conditions in business which most stores are now facing.

This man keeps right on the job and on his toes. He spends a lot of time keeping posted on new conditions arising and what must be done about them. For this reason he has his store prepared for most any emergency and at the same time is rendering the best possible service to his customers.

As time goes on, he stated in this conversation, the average retail store, here in Washington C. H. and in practically every other place, will present a changed appearance. There will be less goods on the shelves in many instances. Some items will vanish altogether, and some will be extremely scarce. In time, wide-spread rationing of a large number of necessities may be put into effect. These are the inevitable result of war's enormous demands on America's productive resources.

But there is one thing that will not change in your retail store, this business man declared, and that is its management's ambition to serve you to the limit of its ability. Whether you patronize a chain store or an independent store, its policy will be guided by the competitive urge. Tomorrow, as in the past, it will be seeking ways and means to earn your patronage.

In addition, retailing is now carrying on some extremely important special activities on behalf of the consumer. It is conferring with manufacturers and others in developing suitable substitutes to take the place of priority goods and materials. In every sound activity on behalf of consumer welfare, retailers are always at the forefront.

War will force immense changes in the home life of the American people. We will have to forego most luxuries, and use a minimum of many necessities. The alert retailers will help us make these adjustments in our living standards.

War-time co-ordination is a subject I had occasion to discuss a bit the other day. Those particular remarks, however, related to co-ordination of production of fighting equipment—guns, ammunition, ships and planes. Also they related, too, to coordination of the United Nations' strategy against the Axis forces.
Harold M. Groves, special assistant to Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau, now calls attention to the fact that we'd better begin co-ordinating taxes as soon as possible.
This isn't an international proposition. It'll be up to our allies to do that kind of co-ordinating each for itself—and heaven help 'em! Our internal taxes, though, are our own special funeral—and we'd be lucky if we could contrive to attend it, from the taxpayer's standpoint, in the capacity of the coffin's occupant. But we can't, speaking of us collectively.
I imagine nobody doubts that our levies are due to make us all scream with anguish, from next year on down into quite a lot of eternity.
Yet their altitude won't be quite as bad, unless we co-ordinate 'em, as the jumble of 'em. You already know that they're terrific and getting more and more so, but you don't even know what they are. You don't know when you've paid 'em and when you haven't.
Too Much Overlapping
Overlapping taxation is the heck of it.

Morning to Night—That's Cookin'
PRATT, Kas.—(AP)—A cook who overheard a bystander ask some soldiers on a train at the railroad station how the Army was feeding them, turned around with a big, broad grin.

ASMARA, Eritrea—(AP)—On a lonely mountain road United States Army Captain John W. Smothers, of Princeton, Indiana, suddenly found himself in a traffic jam—of baboons. "I was driving along when about fifty of the creatures swept across the road in front of the car," he related. "I didn't want to kill any of them so I just stopped and put up the windows. They got very curious about the car and climbed all over it, peering in at me. Finally they got tired of making faces at me and went on their way. I went on mine."

DIAN WESTON, an Ardendale girl, who has just been jilted, more or less accidentally meets
BILL ROLLINS, New York artist, who has just been jilted also, by an Ardendale girl.
CLAIRE LESTER, Claire has turned down Bill, saying that she has discovered she loves
PAUL PETERS, a local boy, who is now an engineer.
YESTERDAY: The four young people start to drive back to Ardendale.

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN
IT WAS almost 1 o'clock in the morning when Paul drove his car into Ardendale.
"There's an all-night garage over there," said Bill. "Let me out, Peters, and I'll see about getting my car fixed right away."
"I'll get out, too," said Dian. "I could do with a little walking. Besides, it's out of your way, Paul, to take me home."
"Not at all," Paul protested. "I'll be glad to."
"Never mind," Bill said. "I'll walk Dian home. Besides, I'm sure you and Claire want to be alone."
"Don't be silly," said Claire.
"Well, you've got to reorganize your plans, mustn't you?"
"We've got a week in which to do that."

"That's what you think, my darling," said Paul. "Okay, Dian, since Bill's going to see you to the house, I'll let you out. Take good care of her, Bill—she's Ardendale's pride and joy."
"And future spinster," laughed Dian.
She and Bill got out, and stood in front of the garage until Claire and Paul had driven off. Bill then went in to tell the garage man where to find his car.
"And," he said, "I hope you'll be able to supply a spring in the place of the one I cracked."
"I'll try, sir," the man said. "Can't make any promises, however."

"Now," said Bill, taking Dian's arm, "which direction?"
Dian smiled. "That's twice you've asked that question tonight," she said.
"Yes, so it is. I don't seem to know just where I'm going, it would seem."
"Nor do I," Dian was thoughtful for a moment. "But I guess there are lots of people in the same fix nowadays."

"Anyway, it's been fun," said Bill as they turned into Dian's street, "not knowing just where I was going tonight. That is, after you walked into my life."
"I'd hardly say I walked into it," Dian said. "Battered would be the better word." She pointed. "Maybe in years to come there'll be a notion on that elm tree, telling how a certain young man nearly found himself hanging from one of its limbs."

"And the picture of a shoe on the notice, with the inscription, 'This is the shoe that started it all.'"
Bill glanced toward the house from which Dian had run away only a few hours before. "What do you suppose your Aunt Martha thought when she found your note?"
"That's hard to say," Dian replied. "However, she evidently thought it unnecessary to come out for me tonight. She hates driving, and she could never persuade Miss Aggie to drive her out to the farm."

"What about this banker person you were telling me about? Couldn't she have asked him to come out for you?"
"She could have, yes. In fact, I've had a feeling that's what she would do. And Jerome might have consented, if the weather had been different."
"You don't mean to tell me he would let a little thing like a thunderstorm keep him from the girl he wants to marry?"
"I mean just that! You don't know Jerome."

They were now at Dian's front gate. They stood in silence for a time, as if reluctant to bring their adventure to an end. Dian, glancing at Bill, as he gazed across the well-kept yard, found herself wondering again just what the outcome of tonight's adventure would be. Would this charming man there with her finally carry Claire Lester back to New York with him—to share the life he led up there? Was this moment with Bill Rollins beside her front gate to be something for her collection of memories, and nothing else? Questions . . . Questions . . . Questions. All of them making her feel a strange sense of sadness, of futility, and none of them having any answers.
"I'm sorry I can't ask you in," she said presently. "But the hour is late, you know."
"Yes," said Bill. "But you could ask me to call at a later date, couldn't you?"
"Of course," said Dian. "Come to see me, by all means." She had a sudden idea. "If I can get our old bus to go, I'll drive out to the farm tomorrow. Would you like to come along? You could see those paintings, you know."
"You bet I'd like to come along!" Bill said. "What time?"
"That depends on 'Betsy,'" said Dian. "Betsy's the car."

"I'll telephone you from the hotel," Bill said. "Ten o'clock too early?"
"No, not at all," Dian held out her hand. "I'll be expecting to hear from you. Good night, Bill—and thanks for everything."

"Thank you," Bill said. He held Dian's hand in a firm clasp. "Want me to stick around until you see how your aunt receives you?"
Dian laughed. "No, thanks," she said. "I've faced her under more difficult circumstances than these. I'll manage."
"Good night, Dian."
"Good night, Bill."

Still feeling the hard-to-describe sense of sadness and futility, Dian let herself into the house. She went up the stairs as quietly as possible, and entered her room. She switched on the light, and was surprised to see the note to her aunt still leaning against the dresser mirror where she had left it. Good heavens, she thought, hadn't Aunt Martha gotten home yet? A little panic of fear gripped her, and she stepped down the hall to her aunt's room. She stood listening, and then opened the door very carefully. The moonlight lay across her aunt's bed, and across her aunt, who was apparently sleeping soundly. Well, of all things! After all her planning and everything, Aunt Martha hadn't even taken the trouble to look in on her—to come to her room to see if she was in bed!

She went back to her room and undressed. She had just gotten into bed when there was a tap at the door.
"Yes?" she said.
"It's Aunt Martha, Dian. May I come in?"
"Yes, of course."
Miss Martha, wrapped in a quilted dressing-gown, opened the door and padded across the room.
"I thought I heard you stirring around," she said, seating herself upon the side of the bed. "I didn't wake you when I came in. It was so quiet in here, I decided you were sound asleep."

"That was thoughtful of you, Aunt Martha," said Dian, glad that she had thought to tear up the note she had left. "Did you have a nice time at the meeting?"
"Up until one or two women began to pump me about you," Miss Martha replied. "That's what I want to talk to you about."
"Not now, please, Aunt Martha. Why, it's morning!"
"Never mind that," said Miss Martha. "I saw Jerome Carr tonight."
"Where?"
"He dropped into the meeting. You know, he gave a whole case of wool for our knitting, and he just wanted to see how things were going."

"He would," said Dian. "I hope you didn't discuss me with him."

Person-to-Person Radio Seen in Future

By CLAYTON J. IRWIN
Beyond radio's standard broadcast band, beyond the short wave bands that have become common place to millions of Americans, radio scientists are working to bring new miracles of communication to a post-war world.
The radio industry that helped turn out a record-breaking 13,000,000 receiving sets for U. S. home use last year has joined the war and the chances are that there won't be any replacements as long as the army and navy need the equipment in the fight on the Axis.

Personal Communication
After the peace times return, radio scientists say it is not fantastic to expect personal radio communication by pocket transmitters and receivers; television in color; airplanes with radio-controlled clearance indicators—to prevent flying into mountains—as well as locators, automatic landing equipment and automobiles with anti-collision devices.
Many of these things already have gone past the experimental stage and will be ready for tremendous development when rubber, metals and other materials become available again.

Radio's next great surprises will come via the ultra short and micro waves—that field lying beyond 30 megacycles and up to 10,000 megacycles virtually unknown when broadcasting made its bow a couple of decades ago.
Ultra-Short Field
The ultra-short field already is being utilized for television, facsimile transmission and frequency modulation broadcasts; when the science moves further into the micro wave realm, then the million of available frequencies can be utilized for the person-to-person communication.
This and other spectacular performances of the radio to come will be abetted by another development of recent years—directive transmitting and receiving antennae.
Back in the old days, broadcasts flared in all directions from the transmitter, like waves from a stone dropped in a pool of water. Now, even the standard broadcast wave may be largely directed, while control of the ultra short and micro waves is a cinch, engineers say.
For example, they can "beam" a wave 20 miles, and a receiver located 10 degrees to either side of the target will not pick up the signal.

In this manner, radio waves may be harnessed more effectively than at any time in their practical history. An airplane in flight may be directed and landed in any kind of weather without human effort; radio-controlled devices correlated with automobile steering equipment would prevent collisions. The same principle, applied to aircraft, would make mid-air collisions impossible.

One man who looks for astonishing progress when the industry goes back to peacetime pursuits is Ralph R. Beal, director of Radio Corporation of America's research staff and a veteran in the communications field.
He thinks the first real boom will come in television—some leaders of industry flatly predict that television will be a major U. S. industry within two years after the war.

Television Army
In the post-war period, Beal sees a vast network of television relay stations. Behind this will be an army of artists, writer, actors, production men and experts trained for the new technique. Television receivers will be simplified, improved and reduced in cost.
The war itself may well revolutionize communications in general, Beal believes, since one demand has been for the accurate transmission of millions of additional words at a faster pace than ever before. He thinks the revolution will go right down through the mails, telephone and telegraph.
Apart from radio communication, but not secondary to it, is the development of electronic devices whose creation may be traced to the vacuum tube, the photo-electric cell and the expansion of electrical circuit uses.
Industrial Magic
These electronic devices, millions of times more sensitive than any of the human senses, are performing feats of industrial magic all over the country.
There's the electron microscope that magnifies up to 100,000 times, compared to the optical microscope limited to 2,000 to 5,000 diameters; there are electronic devices that count items of merchandise faster and more accurately than any human can do it. Others operate intricate machines or detect sound.
But one of the slickest of all is used by a soft drink company. The device inspects bottles as they pass along on a conveyor belt. If a dirty bottle happens to get that far, it's automatically bounced off the belt.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Musical Program, Reception Held at Grace Methodist Church Wednesday Evening

Women's Society of Christian Service Honors Rev. And Mrs. George B. Parkin, Miss Blessing, Miss Soward

A musical program and reception honoring Rev. and Mrs. George B. Parkin and new members of the church, drew a large number of persons to Grace Methodist Church Wednesday night for a very enjoyable evening.

A delightful musical program was presented by Miss Eleanor Blessing, organist-pianist, and Miss Zella Soward, soprano, of Xenia, and Miss Joan Wilson, preceding the reception proper.

Mrs. B. E. Kelley charmingly introduced the musicians. Miss Blessing is formerly of Jeffersonville but for a number of years has been in Xenia, where she and Miss Soward are prominent in musical circles.

Miss Blessing's first group of organ numbers included "Meditation," by Sturges; "In a Monastery Garden," Getelby, and Rachmaninoff's famous "Prelude in C Minor," and the talent of the artist was ably displayed in each of the three numbers.

Miss Soward, with Miss Blessing at the piano, sang "The Song of Thanksgiving" and "Our Pledge," the latter by Emma Jean Cherry, Xenia composer, the audience thoroughly enjoying Miss Soward's beautiful rendition of the two solos.

Miss Blessing played for her second organ group, "Echoes of Spring," Friml, and "Voix Celeste," Batiste, both numbers receiving the hearty plaudits of the audience.

The closing number was Demarest's beautiful and popular "Fantasia," with Miss Blessing at the organ and Miss Joan Wilson at the piano, the duet being faultlessly played by Miss Blessing and her pupil.

Misses Jean Paul, Elizabeth Andrews and Virginia White were ushers.

Large standards of hydrangeas and vases of lilies, daisies and other flowers were used in profusion about the chancel.

Reception

The basement of the church was a mass of June beauty for the lovely reception held honoring Miss Blessing, Miss Soward, and Rev. and Mrs. Parkin. Rev. Parkin begins his fifth year as pastor of the Grace Church.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Jean Nisley, Mrs. Mable Blessing and the honored guests.

A wealth of beautiful flowers, lilies, hydrangeas, delphinium, larkspur and roses adorned every point of vantage. One large white pottery bowl filled with red poppies, placed on a table, was greatly admired. The pillars in the dining room, entwined with smilax and American flags, were a most effective and impressive note to the decorative scheme. The setting was ideal for the young ladies, assisting throughout the evening, who were gowned in lovely summer formal of brilliant shades.

The reception table was a picture of beauty in its patriotic decorations. Covered with a lace cloth, it was centered with a crystal watergarden filled with a most unusual and beautiful arrangement of red, white and blue carnations, interspersed with shower candles of the three shades illuminating the table. The napkins of patriotic colors added a pretty note and the large silver trays of wafers were effective. A large punch bowl was at either end of the table, at which Mrs. Frank Hook and Mrs. Billie Wilson presided.

Mrs. Jean Nisley, who acted as general chairman, was highly complimented on such a lovely affair, and the committee in charge of the decorations and reception, Mrs. Wayne Woodyard, chairman, Mrs. Marvin

Whaley - Finney Nuptials Read Saturday, June 27

Mrs. Orville Eugene Whaley

A very pretty wedding was solemnized Saturday, June 27, at nine o'clock, uniting in marriage Miss Betty Ellen Finney, daughter of Mr. James R. Finney and Mr. Orville Eugene Whaley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Whaley.

The single ring ceremony was performed at the First Baptist parsonage by Rev. W. H. Wilson. The young couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Tide Duval.

The bride was attractively costumed in a white suit with white accessories. Her flowers were a corsage of red rosebuds, delphinium and baby breath.

Mrs. Duval wore a poudre blue dress with matching accessories, and a corsage of yellow rosebuds, delphinium and baby breath.

A small and informal reception was held immediately following the ceremony at the home of the groom's parents.

The pretty bride has many friends in Washington C. H. where she lived during the early years of her life. She attended Xenia Central High School and was graduated in the class of '42.

Mr. Whaley was a member of the class of 1941 of Washington High School, and is now employed at Wright Field, Dayton.

After a short wedding trip the young couple will be at home to their friends at 921 South North Street, Washington C. H.

FOR VICTORY

The cannons roar as ne'er before. But not for fun and frolic; For liberty and freedom's cause. Their shots are still symbolic; The freedom that we hold so dear. Is threatened by an alien foe; Again to arms our men are called. And many hearts are filled with woe; But liberty we will preserve And carry it across the sea. So other lands may know its worth— They too become lands of the free.

Two Guests Are Included with Club Members

Mrs. Ronald Cornwell very charmingly filled the role of hostess to her dessert-bridge club on Wednesday afternoon, and included two guests, Mrs. Paul E. Pennington and Mrs. Charles Reinke, with the members.

The ladies were seated at the dining table for the very tempting course. The table was attractively appointed, covered with a lace cloth, and centered with a beautiful arrangement of floating vari-colored hollyhocks in a crystal watergarden.

The hour around the table was a merry one, with the gracious hostess providing many pleasures.

The contract bridge game was happily played throughout the afternoon, the two tables placed in the attractive living room of the home, to which numerous beautiful bouquets of June blooms were added.

Mrs. John Forsythe held high score and Mrs. Pennington second, and were presented lovely trophies.

Mrs. S. A. Dewey Entertains with Picnic Supper

Adding a delightful affair to the class calendar, Mrs. S. A. Dewey was hostess to a gay party Wednesday evening, when she invited the members of the Leadership Training Class of the First Presbyterian Church, of which she is the teacher, to her home for an enjoyable evening.

Always a most gracious and hospitable hostess, Mrs. Dewey had provided every pleasure for the group of young women, and made it an evening to be long remembered.

A hamburger supper was epoked on the out-door oven in the large back yard of the lovely home. The spacious yard, with its gay colored chairs and tables, was an ideal setting for the party. Hilarity rang out during the supper hour, for which the hostess had many good dishes, which are enjoyed with the tasty hamburgers.

A business meeting was conducted after the delicious supper, during which plans were made for the Victory Parade on next Sunday.

Shower

The Queen Esther Class of the Methodist Church met at the home of Miss Mary Francis Haines, Wednesday evening, for a short business meeting and miscellaneous shower for Miss Mary Huntington, who is to become the bride of Mr. Paul Downs of Dayton, July 15. Miss Lois Kennell and Miss Haines conducted the business meeting. Two new members, Miss Gretchen Baughn and Miss Pat Carlowe were welcomed into the group. Rev. J. D. Baughn was the guest speaker. During the social hour, two contests were given. Misses Casette Larrimer and Helen Cramton won the prizes which they in turn presented to the honor guest. The guests also wrote their favorite recipes for Miss Huntington. The many gifts were brought into the bride-to-be in a large white box. She graciously expressed her thanks to the girls for the many lovely gifts. Miss Haines invited her guests to the dining room for delightful refreshments which were served from the dining table. The table was covered with a white linen cloth, centered with a lovely watergarden of delphiniums, baby breath, with white cathedral candles in crystal holders on either side of the watergarden.

capital, collapsed after a brief advance. Recapitulating losses in a year at war with Russia, Hitler's command declared that only 271,612 German officers and men were killed and 65,730 were missing on the Soviet front from June 22, 1941, to last June 21. By contrast, the Russians have listed as high as 5,000,000 Germans killed or wounded.

DISASTER FACES ALLIES CHURCHILL ADMITS AS CONFIDENCE IS VOTED

'blood, toil, sweat and tears,' to which I have added muddles and mismanagement."

The war, in Churchill's opinion, is likely to be a long one and moreover, he said, there is no reason to suppose that hostilities will cease "when the final result has become obvious."

He paid tribute to the Russians for their "steady resistance" to the Germans and predicted they would "surprise Hitler again."

Churchill said the balance of naval power in the Pacific has been "altered in our favor" by the "brilliant victories of the United States Navy and Air Force" over the Japanese in the Coral Sea and at Midway.

"I am confident that now a land invasion of Australia would be most hazardous and unprofitable operation for Japan," he declared.

"These splendid American achievements have not received the attention they deserve in these islands."

Winding up two days of debate on the grave events in Africa, and facing another test of confidence in his government, Churchill spoke gravely to the grave-faced Parliament.

He said that Britain and her Allies, including the Dominions, the Free French and the Poles, had lost "upwards of 50,000 men" in the last two weeks as the Battle of Libya turned into the Battle of Egypt.

He added to this figure "a great mass of material" and "large quantities of stores."

He said Tobruk was garrisoned by about 25,000 men and that generally British resources were much larger than those of the Axis. In Libya, at the start of the battle, he said, the British had 100,000 men and the Axis 90,000 of which 50,000 were Germans.

"We had superiority in numbers of tanks of perhaps seven to five and superiority in artillery of nearly eight to five," he added.

By way of explanation of the debacle, Churchill said that heavy attacks on Malta, Britain's mid-Mediterranean island base flank the Axis supply line to Libya, made it impossible to impede the Axis reinforcements and the enemy "got lots of stuff across to Africa."

He asserted that the decision to defend Tobruk had been made by Auchinleck with concurrence of the war cabinet and its professional advisers and as a result "I am very ready on behalf of my government to take my full share of responsibility."

While Churchill assumed responsibility for the Tobruk disaster, he nevertheless lashed out at his detractors with a charge that "everything had been done to weaken confidence in the government."

He said his critics had tried to prove that Britain's ministers were "incompetent" and "to weaken their confidence in themselves and make the Army distrust the backing it is getting from the civil power."

Parliamentary debate has been used "to make workmen lose confidence in the weapons they are striving so hard to make," Churchill said, "and to undermine" the Prime Minister "in his own heart and if possible before the eyes of the nation."

CLEVELAND RELIEF ROLLS NOW LOWEST SINCE 1931

CLEVELAND, July 2.—(AP)—Cleveland's relief load dropped to 7,145 cases today, the lowest number since allowances from the city for rent, food and clothing became a public function in 1931. Commissioner Frank G. Jones, submitting his report to Welfare Director Charles T. Dolezal, said 2,024 persons had been dropped from relief rolls since January 1 and that the present figure was 4,069 less than at this date a year ago.

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, July 2.—(AP)—Wheat prices dropped a cent a bushel and most other grains about as much today as the market reflected selling blamed on war news, diminished flour and milling demand, hedging associated with producer sales of new wheat and liquidation of July contracts.

Some buying of mills was reported but volume was much smaller than during the first three days of the week. Failure of congressional conferees to reach agreement on farm legislation, and lack of confirmation of rumors that a compromise looking toward higher loan rates had been reached, caused selling of some contracts bought late yesterday.

Wheat closed 1/2-3/4c lower than yesterday, July 1.17 1/2, Sept. 1.20 1/2-1/4; corn 3/4-1/2c down, July 86 1/2-1/4, Sept. 89 1/4-1/2; oats 3/4c lower to 1/2c higher; rye 1/4-1/2c lower; soybeans 1/2-1/4c down.

DAY'S ACTIVITIES IN WALL STREET

NEW YORK, July 2.—(AP)—Motors, rails, steels and other favorites seemed to benefit by the cloudier war news in today's stock market.

Lack of any real liquidation was evident at the start and this encouraged specialized bidding, brokers said.

On the big board American Can still had to pull against the bearish implication of the latest cut in the company's quarterly dividend from $1 disbursed regularly since 1929 to 75 cents.

Peak armament production of the automotive producers provided a prop for the motor group. Some rails again were responsive to thoughts of reinstated or increased dividends made possible by climbing revenues of most roads.

'blood, toil, sweat and tears,' to which I have added muddles and mismanagement."

The war, in Churchill's opinion, is likely to be a long one and moreover, he said, there is no reason to suppose that hostilities will cease "when the final result has become obvious."

He paid tribute to the Russians for their "steady resistance" to the Germans and predicted they would "surprise Hitler again."

Churchill said the balance of naval power in the Pacific has been "altered in our favor" by the "brilliant victories of the United States Navy and Air Force" over the Japanese in the Coral Sea and at Midway.

"I am confident that now a land invasion of Australia would be most hazardous and unprofitable operation for Japan," he declared.

"These splendid American achievements have not received the attention they deserve in these islands."

Winding up two days of debate on the grave events in Africa, and facing another test of confidence in his government, Churchill spoke gravely to the grave-faced Parliament.

He said that Britain and her Allies, including the Dominions, the Free French and the Poles, had lost "upwards of 50,000 men" in the last two weeks as the Battle of Libya turned into the Battle of Egypt.

He added to this figure "a great mass of material" and "large quantities of stores."

He said Tobruk was garrisoned by about 25,000 men and that generally British resources were much larger than those of the Axis. In Libya, at the start of the battle, he said, the British had 100,000 men and the Axis 90,000 of which 50,000 were Germans.

"We had superiority in numbers of tanks of perhaps seven to five and superiority in artillery of nearly eight to five," he added.

By way of explanation of the debacle, Churchill said that heavy attacks on Malta, Britain's mid-Mediterranean island base flank the Axis supply line to Libya, made it impossible to impede the Axis reinforcements and the enemy "got lots of stuff across to Africa."

He asserted that the decision to defend Tobruk had been made by Auchinleck with concurrence of the war cabinet and its professional advisers and as a result "I am very ready on behalf of my government to take my full share of responsibility."

While Churchill assumed responsibility for the Tobruk disaster, he nevertheless lashed out at his detractors with a charge that "everything had been done to weaken confidence in the government."

He said his critics had tried to prove that Britain's ministers were "incompetent" and "to weaken their confidence in themselves and make the Army distrust the backing it is getting from the civil power."

Parliamentary debate has been used "to make workmen lose confidence in the weapons they are striving so hard to make," Churchill said, "and to undermine" the Prime Minister "in his own heart and if possible before the eyes of the nation."

CLEVELAND RELIEF ROLLS NOW LOWEST SINCE 1931

CLEVELAND, July 2.—(AP)—Cleveland's relief load dropped to 7,145 cases today, the lowest number since allowances from the city for rent, food and clothing became a public function in 1931. Commissioner Frank G. Jones, submitting his report to Welfare Director Charles T. Dolezal, said 2,024 persons had been dropped from relief rolls since January 1 and that the present figure was 4,069 less than at this date a year ago.

Street Improvement Program Under Way Here

MANY STREETS GET ATTENTION IN NEW PROJECT

Work of Resurfacing of Elm Street Is Now Well Under Way

One of the largest street improvement programs launched here in recent years is now under way, and as a result several important streets will be placed in condition to carry them over a period of years.

Recently the work of rebuilding Circle Avenue from Main Street to the D. T. and I. Railroad was completed, and that important street is now in excellent condition.

Work on rebuilding Elm Street from the Greenfield Road to the D. T. and I. Railroad, a project in which the state and county are participating, will soon be completed. An entire new top course or mat of black top is being spread on this section of street.

The remainder of Elm Street from Fayette Street to Columbus Avenue is to be given a heavy surface coating of stone and tar to place it in first class condition.

Millikan Avenue from the bridge over Paint Creek to the Shoe Factory is also to receive black top treatment.

Similar treatment for Oakland Avenue from Dayton Avenue to the B. and O. Railroad, is included in the program, and some changes in the grade at a small bridge near Cherry Hill School House is planned.

Circle Avenue is to be resurfaced from West Court Street to the D. T. and I. Railroad, so that it, too, will be in first class condition.

The square on Delaware Street from Temple to Paint is also to be given a heavy top coat to level it up and place it in good condition.

In the meantime the patching crew has been at work on Temple Street and other streets, placing them in better condition.

The work will continue for several weeks.

RELIEF IN SIGHT FROM DUMP SMOKE

Burning Rubbish Had Left Fog Over Large Area

Relief from the obnoxious smoke which has hung over part of the city on successive nights recently, has resulted by the city street force burning down out of the smoldering fire in the city dump.

Carelessness in burning refuse had resulted in some of the inflammable material in the dump being ignited, and after the fire had been extinguished, notice was served on the caretaker of the dump to burn rubbish only where it would not ignite material that would smoulder.

By the dumping of additional material that decomposes, a very unsanitary situation has resulted at the dump which is to be given attention, it was indicated at the City Building.

WAR BOND QUOTA SET AT $52,000 FOR THIS MONTH

Necessity of Heavy Buying To Support War Is Pointed Out

Fayette County's War Bond and War Stamp quota for July has been fixed at $52,000, F. E. Hill, county chairman said Wednesday.

This means that during the month Fayette County residents are expected to purchase at least $52,000 worth of War Bonds and War Stamps to help finance the huge war cost.

The plan of setting aside part of the payroll each week to buy stamps and bonds, adopted by employees of nearly all leading firms in the city and county, will aid materially in helping meet the quota, but a great many heavy purchases by individuals will also be necessary to meet the amount fixed for Fayette County.

County Chairman Hill has built up a county-wide organization to help promote the sales of bonds and stamps, and so far the response has been good.

It will be necessary for citizens generally to invest liberally in War Stamps to meet the heavy cost of the war and this is one important way in which everyone can help support the government and help defeat the mighty enemy forces that are seeking to destroy the American Government and subject the people to iron rule such as in Europe.

WASHINGTON C. H. TOUR DISCUSSED AT MEETING

The tour of Washington C. H. and some of its industries were discussed, demonstrations were given and the plans for the forthcoming judging of the 4-H Club work was discussed at the regular meeting of the Bloomington Sunny Sewers. The roll call was answered by a good health habit.

After the tour of Washington C. H. and the theater party had been discussed at length, demonstrations on shoes to help the posture were given by Pat Sollars, French seam, by Nettie Jane Cook and collars and sleeves by Wanda Waugh.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Esther Rapp and Joan Daniel and a recreation period was enjoyed.

The next meeting, the tenth, will also be held in the Town Hall.

NOT OVER 40 MPH ON THE FOURTH

Appeal Is Made To Save Rubber and Prevent Undue Accidents

Automobile drivers generally are asked by H. G. Sours, director of the Ohio Department of Highways, to limit their speeds to not over 40 miles an hour, or less, to conserve rubber and prevent accidents.

A peak flow of traffic is anticipated over the week-end, and usually on double holidays, if caution is not exercised, a heavy list of fatalities and serious injury cases occur.

"The need for a safe celebration of the Fourth," said Director Sours, "is especially necessary this year, since every accident wastes manpower, time and material vital to victory."

"Ohio motorists can make no better show of their patriotism than by heeding Governor Bricker's plea not to drive over 40 miles an hour to save tires. By driving at a moderate speed, motorists will also help prevent accidents as well as lessen the severity of many others, thus saving lives and keeping men at work in production needed to win the war."

Halliday declared emphatically.

USO CAMPAIGN IS EXPECTED TO 'GO OVER TOP'

Canvass To Continue and Contributions Are To Be Welcome Indefinitely

Although the prospects of Fayette County going "over the top" in the campaign to raise $3,800 to be added to the USO fund to make a "home away from home" for the boys in the country's armed forces when the final reports are in, still more contributions are wanted and will be taken indefinitely.

This statement of policy came from the campaign publicity chairman, who went on to explain that such a procedure is being followed throughout the country for two basic reasons: 1. The USO budget was held to a minimum and additional funds could be put to very good use and 2. there are still many who have not yet been contacted who want to do their part.

The campaign was not exactly to have come to an end Tuesday, it was explained, too; rather, that was the date on which the campaign was expected to reach its $3,800 goal.

Optimism stems from partial reports from the township and ward chairmen showing that the solicitors went into the final stages of the campaign only approximately $250 from their goal.

J. Roush Burton, cashier of the First National Bank, as treasurer of the campaign said that the current week was started with "a little more than $3,500 turned in." He expressed confidence that success would reward the efforts of the solicitors.

A cursory check of reports indicated, the publicity man said, that a few of the township and wards have not yet been completely canvassed and a little more time is needed to finish the job.

Perry Township, whose committee was headed by Robert Cockerill, was the fourth in the county to make its quota. An even $120 was turned in and that was the amount of the quota.

From Carroll Halliday, the campaign chairman, came word that "the divisions that were late in getting started have promised that every effort will be made to see every person before the end of this week." And, those committees already "over the top" are still soliciting those who were missed in the early rounds.

Halliday declared emphatically.

ly that "the last week's work is the most important of the whole drive," explaining that it is always the tendency to get the "easy" contributions first.

The campaign leaders right now are represented as being most concerned with a possible "slow up" of the effort and a tightening up in contributions when the public learns that the goal has been reached. As an antidote for this they emphasize that "nothing is too good for the boys in the service" and that the USO could expand its program for the benefit of the service men and still have much too, significantly, that patriotic that could be done. It was said, Americans all over the country, in big cities and small rural communities, are oversubscribing their quotas with a conviction that they are making a real contribution to the country's war effort by stiffening the morale of the men in the service and the determination to "help somebody you know by giving to the USO."

"LET FREEDOM RING" on this memorable 4TH OF JULY
America's war effort is gathering strength—to preserve the spirit of INDEPENDENCE
Our people approach This Independence Day of 1942 . . . not in the holiday spirit of other years . . . but with grim determination to see the war through to a victorious conclusion, so that our freedom shall not perish. This job must, and will, be done.
Those of us who remain at home cannot hope to match the sacrifices of those who go to war, but we CAN support them with our dollars . . . invested in War Bonds. Buy often—for your country, for your fellow Americans in uniform, and for continued INDEPENDENCE.
